

To Stay

The Bahama House

Photo: Simon Upton / Courtesy of Eleven Experience

Eleven Experience has another hit on its hands with the opening of its 11-room Bahama House property. The hospitality veterans meticulously renovated a circa-1800 pale-pink painted stone building in Dunmore Town, a former inn with a British colonial sensibility, and added cottages, a pool, and tiki bar to its offerings. Four-poster mahogany and rattan beds, blue-green cement tiled bathroom floors, plantation shutters, vintage-style rattan furniture, eclectic objects, and grasscloth walls add an island vibe to each unique room. “We wanted a natural but comfortably chic feeling to the property,” says designer Blake Pike of London-based studio No. 12 Interiors. “We used local artisans for over-scaled shell mirrors and locally woven braids to embellish a bookcase.” The light-filled compound with bay views, which accommodates up to 26 guests, includes two two-bedroom cottages and an original structure with three suites, as well as an annex with four suites. Open from November through July, this brand-new offering is an ideal spot for a buyout for a special occasion or family event. From $550/night for bed and breakfast to $8,750/night for a full property buyout